<input type="checkbox"/>	Boardshorts
<input type="checkbox"/>	Bikinis

Check your kite and bar are in good condition before you travel so you don't have any avoidable equipment failures. Replace any worn parts as needed. The most common wear and tear on bars happens with non-polyurethane covered depower ropes fraying and safety line bungees perishing. Judge for yourself if you are due to replace these parts or if you should carry spares in your repair kit as backup.

IF IT FITS...

<input type="checkbox"/>	Clothes

<input type="checkbox"/>	Action Camera in POV case
<input type="checkbox"/>	Mounts (e.g. line mount, telescopic)
<input type="checkbox"/>	Tripod

IN YOUR CARRY ON BAG...

- Camera (DSLR/Bridge/Compact)
- Mounts (e.g. line mount, telescopic)
- Laptop
- Hard Drive/Memory Cards
- Tablet
- Travel Adaptor
- Charging Cables
- Headphones
- Mobile WiFi
- Spare Clothes (Inc. Board Shorts/Bikini)
- Travel Wash Bag

Cover all eventualities: Always pack your carry on with a spare set of clothes so you're covered in case the airline misplace your bag. That way, despite the inconvenience, you're not completely screwed.
You can still rent some gear and have a session while you wait for the airline to get your equipment to you.
